Join Vantage Deluxe World Travel on an unparalleled expedition cruise to Antarctica. This shorter-length journey is filled with incredible experiences that few will ever claim.

You'll be guided by our highly-credentialed 17-person Expedition Team throughout this incomparable journey. These experts in fields including biology, ornithology, geology, and more, will share their knowledge and familiarity of Antarctica with you, enhancing your discoveries. You can look forward to daily educational lectures and opportunities to come face-to-face with polar wildlife like gentoo, Adélie, and chinstrap penguins; humpback whales; and other indigenous wildlife. You'll embark Zodiac boats and make landfall with the Expedition Team, who will ensure total immersion in the history, wilderness, and unspoiled landscape of Antarctica. Because Antarctica is a special place, and there's no better way to preserve its untouched majesty than in intimate, small groups, this expedition cruise is limited to no more than 134 guests.

Thanks to the small size of the state-of-the-art, 5-star Ocean Explorer, you'll also explore off the beaten path. Our ship and its amenities will keep you pampered and relaxed throughout your journey. This ice-class vessel offers gourmet dining, deluxe spa, gym, and spacious staterooms — most with private balconies — and a landmark 15 solo cabins for independent explorers.

If you're interested in extending your discoveries, make the most of your expedition by adding optional pre- and post-extensions to Iguassu Falls and Easter Island.

PHOTOGRAPHY HIGHLIGHTS

You've traveled a long way for this journey, and photography will be key to keeping these memories alive for years to come. Here are a few tips:

- Take your time to capture an image. Think like a photographer and slow down to compose your shot.

Remember: tourists take pictures, while photographers make images

- You'll encounter some larger-than-life scenes and landmarks on this trip, which might create pressure to fit everything into one shot. Instead, focus on a distinctive feature rather than trying to incorporate everything into frame
- Use your surroundings. Instead of edging out other tourists from your photos, utilize them to enhance the scene. Try tilting the camera at your target (including tourists and the real scene in the background or forefront) and the image is instantly more intriguing than a generic snapshot

- Take a selfie! You'll be glad to have a few portraits of yourself at the distinctive landmarks you'll find on this journey
- Look beyond the landmarks — sometimes everyday scenes are just as inspiring, and provide a lesson in embracing the unexpected and seizing the moment in front of you

In Antarctica, your Expedition Team features an expert photographer who will share top tips in onboard workshops and during your excursions. Here are a few:

- Antarctica is a harsh environment that can kill a camera quickly. A protective cover is highly recommended to stave off rain, snow, and salt water
- Invest in a waterproof camera if you can, or at least a waterproof bag. Note: Plastic protective bags are not allowed in Antarctica as there is a risk they might blow away
- Use a bean bag, tripod, or other stabilizing device to capture moving targets like birds and other wildlife
- Bring extra batteries — the cold temperatures take their toll on batteries. Bring your charger in your hand luggage, in case your checked bags get lost
- A zoom lens up to 200mm is suggested
- A wide-angle lens is ideal for capturing landscapes
- A protective filter for lens will keep water and dust away. Polarized filters darken the blue sky and cut reflections from the water
- Bring extra memory cards — just in case!

DAYS 6-9: Discovery awaits with four days in Antarctica

Welcome to Antarctica — the 7th Continent! In the history of humankind, only a tiny handful of people have ever set foot on Antarctica and now you're one of them. Prepare to witness the most unspoiled, sublime terrain on earth, with its vast glacial expanses and massive electric blue icebergs the size of cities.

Each day, you'll have one landing in which you venture ashore on versatile Zodiac boats, and one scenic cruising in which you'll likely head to the deck for the most optimal views.

During landings, you'll break into small groups and enter Zodiac boats alongside your Expedition Team. Once on shore, they'll scope out conditions and offer guided hikes, walks, talks, and offer anecdotes and helpful information, depending on the wildlife and nature you encounter.

There's no doubt that we'll happen upon some penguin rookeries — most likely Adélie, gentoo, and chinstrap penguin varieties. These curious and flightless birds will charm you immediately! From the shore, you may also spot killer and humpback whales, as well as crabeater, leopard, and Weddell seals, which are prosperous in these cold waters. We'll explore a diversity of landscapes, including active volcanoes, mossy cliffs, and rocky beaches, too.

You'll also have free time to explore on your own and take lots of photographs, using the knowledge you've gained from the Expedition Team's lectures and your conversations with them to enhance your explorations.

While going ashore may seem more exciting and rewarding than cruising, you'll be surprised. There's so much to see in Antarctica, and cruising is oftentimes the best way to accomplish that, as the Ocean Explorer's small size grants us more flexibility in where we navigate compared to other cruise lines. Look forward to getting up-close to icebergs, spotting whales, and other spontaneous and bucket-list experiences. If we're lucky, we may witness humpback whales during a "bubble-net" feeding, in which a group of whales circles a school of fish and engages in a team effort to disorient and corral the fish into a "net" of bubbles.

You can also further enhance your expedition by joining the Expedition Team for optional polar kayaking. This is a popular option, so we encourage you to reserve your spot as early as possible.

Please note: Remember, daily life in Antarctica is determined by the elements, and we'll adjust our landings as our adventure progresses in accordance with IAATO regulations.

Included Features

- Landings led by the Expedition Team
- Sightseeing cruising to various sites

Scenic Sailing

- Each day in Antarctica includes a sailing component, and you'll be able to see more of the continent's landscape, as well as penguins or seals lounging on ice floes; mountains, glaciers, and other unique scenery; and icebergs in varying shapes and colors. Have a camera ready at all times!

Included Meals: 4 Breakfasts, 4 Lunches, 4 Dinners
Ocean Explorer >

DAYS 10-11: Enjoy your ship's amenities with two days at sea

Heading back to Argentina, you'll enjoy more opportunities to take advantage of your ship's amenities, perhaps visiting the spa for a facial or soothing massage.

You might also take in a movie, join a fitness class, or simply curling up with a book from the library. As we get closer to South America, you might join your Expedition Team on deck for birdwatching, perhaps spotting fulmar, petrel, or even a wandering albatross, with its eleven-foot wingspan.

Included Meals: 2 Breakfasts, 2 Lunches, 2 Dinners
Ocean Explorer >

DAYS 12: Arrive in Ushuaia and say goodbye to your ship

Today, you'll arrive in Ushuaia, bringing an end to your exciting expedition journey. Following breakfast, you'll disembark the Ocean Explorer and transfer to the airport for your return flight to Buenos Aires.

Included Meals: 1 Breakfast
Sofitel Buenos Aires Recoleta Hotel or similar

DAY 13: Return home

Check out of your Buenos Aires hotel today and transfer to the airport for your overnight return flight home. Or, continue your discoveries with an optional post-trip extension Easter Island.

Please note: Ocean-cruising is not the same experience as river cruising; as such, you may experience fluctuating tides and weather patterns that may involve some rocking of your vessel. Itineraries will include all activities as planned except in extreme cases that can't be controlled by your shipboard crew. This itinerary is representative of the discoveries planned for the Antarctic region. Flexibility is a hallmark of our explorations, and your day-by-day cruise itinerary may change based on the weather and local conditions; as well as opportunities to take full advantage of rare wildlife sightings. Our captain and crew will ascertain the ideal locations for actual shore landings.
