PHOTOGRAPHY HIGHLIGHTS You don't need to be a professional photographer to expertly photograph Iceland's diverse topography. Here are a few tips and recommended sites:

- Take your time to capture an image. Think like a photographer and slow down to compose your shot. Remember: tourists take pictures, while photographers make images
- From massive glaciers to vast landscapes, you'll encounter large landmarks on this trip, which might create pressure to fit everything into one shot. Instead, try focusing on a distinctive feature rather than trying to incorporate everything into frame
- Incorporate your surroundings. Don't try to edge out other tourists from your photos, but use them to enhance the scene. Try tilting the camera at your target, including tourists and the real scene in the background or forefront, and the image instantly is more intriguing than a generic snapshot
- Pursue quirky composition — shooting off-center makes for a more artsy, unique shot

DAY 6: Have your choice of tours in the Shetland Islands: Explore Scalloway & Lerwick, or follow in the footsteps of the Vikings Floating between the Atlantic and the North Sea, the Shetlands are as far north as you can go and still be in Scotland. But at the same time, centuries of Norse rule make these spectacular green jewels a unique cultural hybrid. If you are on deck, perhaps a flock of northern fulmars or gannets will herald our arrival as our ship makes its way towards Mainland, the largest of the archipelago's 16 inhabited islands. Your ship will drop anchor in Scalloway, and from here you will have two choices for exploration — An exploration of Scalloway and Lerwick, or a tour that brings you to important Viking sites.

Your first tour choice introduces Shetland's past and present capitals on a Lerwick tour. The name Scalloway derives from an Old Norse phrase that means "bay with the large huts" and in this case, the huts were the ancient shelters built here for delegates to Tingwall, the parliament for Orkney and Shetland. In 1608, those huts were overshadowed by Scalloway Castle, the ruins of which still stand. You'll go on a guided walk of Lerwick and a trip to Clickimin Broch, where you'll visit a farm to learn about Shetland ponies. You'll also visit Clickimin Broch, a defensive Bronze Age round tower. Before returning to ship, enjoy a guided walk around Lerwick and stop at a local farm that breeds the island's iconic, stout Shetland ponies.

Your second and more active tour choice invites you to explore “In Viking Footsteps.” You’ll start with a motorcoach ride across the stunning countryside to Old Scatness on the southern tip of the island. It was here in the 1970s that an airport expansion project revealed the heretofore unknown presence of an ancient mound that was inhabited for nearly 2,000 years since the Iron Age. It includes a broch (round tower) and a village that was occupied by Iron Age, Pictish, and Viking people. Many of the Pictish houses were reused by the Vikings, who left many soapstone artifacts behind. From here you’ll head to Sumburgh and visit Jarlshof, which was occupied from about 2500 BC to AD 1500. It features rectangular Viking longhouses, and a 16th-century, fortified manor house.

Back on board, your afternoon will be at your leisure, and we welcome you to visit the Scalloway museum on your own, if you like. If conditions permit, perhaps this evening one of our expedition team members will host a stargazing session.

Included Feature:

- Your choice of tours: Shetland's Past and Present or “In Viking Footsteps” tour of Old Scatness and Jarlshof

Included meals: Breakfast, lunch & dinner
Ocean Odyssey >

DAY 7: Enjoy a day at sea on the Ocean Odyssey

Enjoy another day to fully relax aboard your 5-star ship. Throughout the day, your light expedition team will be conducting different presentations on topics relevant to your destinations, and you’ll also have a moment to take advantage of your ship’s other amenities to refresh and restore yourself, perhaps visiting the sauna or enjoying a soothing massage in the spa.

DAY 8: Explore Europe’s best kept secret: the Faroe Islands

If you’re an early riser, hit the deck as we approach the Faroe Islands, and perhaps you’ll spot some wildlife. The 18 Faroe Islands form an autonomous region within the Kingdom of Denmark. The islands’ main industry is fishing and the 50,000 or so inhabitants enjoy a high standard of living. Your ship will dock on the island of Streymoy, in Tórshavn. Tórshavn was founded in the 10th century, and many historians believe it to be the oldest (albeit smallest) capital in Europe. The name means “Thor’s Harbor” and it’s fitting that the town be associated with the god of thunder, since the Faroes can be quite storm-tossed.

Your tour showcases the main attractions of Tórshavn, plus some of the surroundings. In Tinganes, the narrow neck of land that divides Tórshavn’s two harbors, you’ll see a cluster of modest, red wooden houses that was one of the oldest parliamentary gatherings in the world. Vikings would convene here for regular “Thing” meetings to resolve conflicts and establish laws. Contrast this with the contemporary Løgting or “Law Assembly” that serves as the Faroese Parliament. The office of the prime minister is also located here. At the National Museum of the Faroe Islands, you'll see various displays celebrating the islands' natural and cultural heritage. One of the most important is the Kikjubøstólarnir, which are pew ends from the ancient St. Olav's church. Dating from the 12th century, these national treasures feature elaborate carvings depicting the apostles and other biblical lore.

For the rest of the day, you may choose to relax or embark on an independent exploration. Perhaps you'll stroll the side streets and admire the pastel-colored houses with their turf roofs. Or maybe you'll amble down Tórshavn's main shopping street, Niels Finsens gøta, in search of some stylish Faroese knitwear.

Enjoy a little pre-dinner entertainment as a local Faroese folk troupe comes aboard to serenade us.

Included Feature:

- Panoramic coach and walking tour of Tórshavn

Cultural Discovery:

- Evening onboard entertainment

DAY 10: Tour the glacial lagoon region of Jökulsárlón

Today's included excursion will take you to Jökulsárlón, a glacial lagoon bordering Vatnajökull National Park. Calm, bright blue waters are dotted with calving glaciers that are carried out to sea via currents along a small channel. You will have the opportunity to view these glacial icebergs from the shores of Diamond Beach. The stunning contrast of bright blue icebergs against the black volcanic sand of this beach is truly a sight to behold.

Included Feature:

- Jökulsárlón and Diamond Beach excursion
Included meals: Breakfast, lunch & dinner
Ocean Odyssey >

DAY 11: Stroll through Seyðisfjörður and see the famous Blue Church

Following breakfast on board, head ashore with the Expedition Team for a guided walking tour of Seyðisfjörður. Surrounded by cascading waterfalls and the snow-capped peaks of Mt. Bjólfur and Strandartindur, this is a favorite destination for travelers. Just like many Icelandic ports-of-call, Seyðisfjörður's history is deeply-rooted in its maritime industries. It's easy to understand why, as this town boasts one of the best harbors in the country. You'll stroll down a rainbow-tiled street, past colorful wooden houses, as you make your way to the Church in Seyðisfjörður. This powder blue structure is one of the most easily recognizable landmarks in Iceland. Following your tour of this picturesque village, you'll have leisure time to continue exploring on your own.

Included Feature:

- Seyðisfjörður walking tour
Included meals: Breakfast, lunch & dinner
Ocean Odyssey >

DAY 12: Delve into Djúpvogur's history and geology

Head ashore with your Expedition Team today and explore the quaint coastal village of Djúpvogur on a leisurely walking tour. You'll stop at Langabúð, a late 18th-century warehouse that now serves as the town's cultural center and site of its Heritage Museum. Next, head to Audun's Stone & Mineral Museum. This region of Iceland abounds with agate, quartz crystal, and zeolite, and you'll see many of these unique stones and geodes on display at this museum. Proceed to the Old Harbor area and view the unique granite artwork on display around the lovely waterfront, including the Eggs of Merry Bay sculpture. Almost three dozen large, granite eggs line the road along the bay in Djúpvogur as a tribute to the native birds of eastern Iceland. At the conclusion of your guided walk, you'll have time to continue your explorations at your leisure.

Included Features:

- Djúpvogur walking tour
Included meals: Breakfast, lunch & dinner
Ocean Odyssey >

DAY 13: Visit the Vestmannaeyjar Islands and the "Pompeii of the North"

Located off the southern coast of Iceland, the Vestmannaeyjar Islands were formed by submarine volcanic eruptions 10,000 years ago. We'll step ashore in Heimaey, the only one of these islands that is inhabited, and explore this unique landscape on a guided bus tour. You'll see half-buried houses, the only remnants of a violent volcanic eruption in 1973. Known as the "Pompeii of the North," the eruption of Eldfell Volcano engulfed over 400 buildings in 200 million tons of ash and lava. You'll also visit the island's Volcanic Center, where we'll hear the story of the Eldfell eruption and learn about formation of Surtsey Island, the Earth's youngest volcanic landmass. The island is named after Surtr, a fire giant from Norse mythology.

Included Features:

- Vestmannaeyjar Islands tour and Volcanic Museum visit
Included meals: Breakfast, lunch & dinner

DAY 14: Disembark the Ocean Odyssey and tour Reykjavík

You'll disembark the Ocean Odyssey and transfer to your hotel in Reykjavík's today. Along the way, you'll enjoy a tour of Reykjavík's highlights.
